CRICH Creative-On-Call Retainer Service Overview

Every business or organization relies on regular marketing activities and graphic design communications to ensure their success, but not everyone will have the time or budget to take on a full-time marketing or design staff.

In today's ultra-competitive marketplace, you cannot afford to lose potential clients because they think that your competitors appear more professional, more unified or more put together than you are. But it requires an investment of time and effort to keep your graphic design, Web and marketing efforts looking their best.

With CRICH Creative-On-Call you can now afford to have all of your creative materials such as your logo, business stationery, print ads, flyers, brochures, sales material, Website design and much more created or maintained for one flat monthly retainer rate, starting from just $56.67/day - that's about $1700/month for unlimited design services.

Retainer Service

CRICH Creative Retainer Service (CRICH Creative-On-Call) is a revolutionary, cost effective way for small and mid-sized businesses and organizations to access all the services of a talented graphic design professional without the cost of hiring a full-time employee. It offers the perfect way to get an out-sourced graphic designer for businesses that need regular recurring graphic design every month and want to save money on high salaries and expensive benefits.

For a predetermined monthly fee, CRICH Creative budgets a set amount of priority hours each month specifically toward your projects (flexible to your needs). Unused hours may be carried forward to future months (however must be used prior to the determined expiry date).

The CRICH Creative-On-Call Retainer Service contract is month to month and paid in advance, with typical terms set for 3, 6, 12 or longer month terms.

Advantages (cont'd)

Discounted Design & Service Rates

Along with the benefits and convenience of monthly billing and securing a 30% lower hourly rate, unused hours may be carried forward to future months (however must be used prior to the determined expiry date).

No Added Overhead

With the monthly CRICH Creative-On-Call retainer service CRICH Creative is an extension of your business and you will have the resources available to get your advertising, marketing and design done right; without making space in your office, paying for equipment or added employee costs and benefits.

Consider the costs (time and money) you'll save compared with hiring and employing an in-house designer:

Full-Time Salary (current national average is $66,000 according to a salary.com report.)

Benefits Package (medical insurance, dental, vision, etc.)

Overhead and workspace (office, expensive hardware and software, payroll)

Vacation and sick time and more...

The cost of employing a full-time designer can put an unnecessary strain on your "bottom line".

Contact us today to see how we can meet your specific needs more cost effectively!

Cost

CRICH Creative continues to provide graphic design services on a per-project basis. We can quote and design any individual design item you might need. But based on feedback from our many clients we have found that our repeat customers often require more than just one or two projects - many need everything 'from soup to nuts' for their businesses, but not quite enough to warrant employing a full-time, in-house graphic designer. So we have created a revolutionary way for clients who need a more complete design service and a way to benefit from more savings.

Rates: An average CRICH Creative-On-Call client pays only $56.67/day or $1700/month to ensure a minimum of 40 hours of dedicated designer services to design an unlimited range of projects. The contract is month-to-month and paid in advance. The service, number of hours and range of projects can be customized to your individual needs.

Retainer Client

Some of our CRICH Creative-On-Call retainer clients are small businesses or organizations who are either just starting up, and require everything to get their business started off on the right foot, while others are already established and have some form of recurring monthly graphic design needs - whether it's a newsletter or monthly email marketing campaign or those just looking to update their Website content.

Starting

Click here to send us a message expressing your interest in becoming a retainer client and telling us a bit more about your business and design needs.

You'll be contacted and asked a few questions about your business goals, and the most effective way to achieve those goals within your budget. Once we determine the types of retainer services you need, a reasonable monthly rate is established. The CRICH Creative-On-Call Retainer Service contract is month-to-month and paid in advance. We recommend, although you are not obligated, a minimum starting arrangement of two months. This enables us to learn about your company's brand and culture and during which time we can determine the exact nature and volume of creative projects you'll need, and thereby adjust your retainer agreement to be most cost effective for your organization. This period of time will also allow ample time to finish any projects we may have started together.

We're sure that once you've enjoyed the convenience of having a CRICH Creative-On-Call you'll never buy graphic design services the traditional way again.
